Canterbury Food Bank has distributed 130,000 meals to vulnerable families in the past year, with food collected from nearly 100 collection points, supermarkets, shops, doctors' surgeries, play-groups and elsewhere. It operates throughout the district and is supported entirely by the generosity of local people and by the work of 194 volunteers. We anticipate that demand will increase yet further this winter, as rents and fuel bills rise.

Every pound you give will help to feed a local family facing hardship.
